Michael McKenzie of Burlington Died on Tuesday.

Burlington, June 20.—Michael McKenzie, one of Burlington's oldest residents and a veteran of the Civil war, died yesterday at his home at 101 Elmwood avenue after an illness of a few weeks with a complication of diseases.

Mr. McKenzie was born in County Mayo, Ireland, and came to this country when four years of age. He made his home in Burlington from that time on. He enlisted in the 6th Vermont infantry in 1862 and was in all of the battles in which that famous regiment participated, including the battles of the Wilderness, the Peninsula campaign, etc., and received his honorable discharge in 1864. At the close of the war when the Fenian outbreak occurred, he was commissioned by the Fenians commissary sergeant of the expedition which went into Canada. Later on Mr. McKenzie was on the police force and served first as a regular and later as a special for a term of more than 20 years.

He was a very prominent and loyal Democrat and under Cleveland's administration was a deputy collector and inspector of customs at this port and St. Albans.

Mr. McKenzie is survived by five children, all of this city. They are Dr. Walter F. McKenzie, William McKenzie and Misses Mary, Elizabeth and Agnes McKenzie.

The funeral will be held Friday at 9 a. m. at St. Mary's cathedral, with burial in St. Joseph's cemetery.

A REFORMER IN COURT.

Was Handing Out Religious Tracts and Got Drunk.

Burlington, June 20.—Percival E. Fellows, author of several religious tracts, among which is "A Man Can Have No Higher Ideals," was in city court yesterday and pleaded guilty to a charge of intoxication. Sentence in his case was continued. Fellows said that he arrived in the city Monday morning on a business matter but that he was feeling ill and took a few drinks to brace him up, with the result that he must have become intoxicated. He had with him a number of copies of a tract which he had written and published at his own expense and which he had desired, before his arrest, to distribute for the edification of the vulgar multitude. Judge Palmer advised him to keep sober on the next proselyting expedition he undertook.

The Lumberjack Pledge.

Written on board ship and signed by every one of the three hundred members of the ten New England sawmill units now on their way to English forests, the letter of appreciation of courtesies extended them by Chairman Storow and Vice-Chairman Phelan of the Massachusetts committee on public safety is characteristically to the point. Your true New England lumberjack, when he has anything to say, says it with vigorous and refreshing directions. It is in this case:

"You may rest assured that we, representatives of the brawn of New England, will uphold the record for which our fathers and forefathers stood. The government we represent can depend upon us to do our bit in the great struggle for humanity and when our work is over, God grant that we may all return with the feeling that you and your associates will be proud to welcome us back to the shore of old New England."

No one who has visited them often in their camps, and has witnessed their devotion to the rules of the game as faithfully laid down in their own code, can entertain a doubt that "the government which they represent can depend on them to do their bit in the great struggle for humanity." Humanity is their middle name. Nowhere on earth is there a class of men more thoroughly human than they. Nowhere is to be found a class of men more faithful to duty or more positively insistent on fair play. Realizing, as they do, that the present actuality is a "struggle for humanity," the New England huskies from the bush will do their part manfully and efficiently.

To New Englanders, who know them, this assurance is superfluous. To observers outside New England, who lack the privilege of acquaintance with the virile woodsmen of this section, we have only this to say: Wait and see. We vouch for the New England lumberjacks.—Manchester Union.

He Did Not Register.

AUSTRIAN CABINET

HAS RESIGNED?

Vienna Dispatch, Via Switzerland, Makes This Announcement.

Basel, Switzerland, June 20.—A Vienna dispatch says that the Austrian cabinet has resigned.

YOUR DOLLARS AND MY BOY.

I want to thank you, friend. You must know the heartfelt gratitude of a father with an only boy. He went with the troops, and I was proud.

But I've had many a heartache since. They say he'll pull through now all right—because they found him just in time.

Did your dollar bring my boy back from No Man's Land?

Did your dollar take the stretcher so close to the thick of the firing?

Did your dollar give him the water he pleaded for in his delirium?

Did your dollar bring him back to the base hospital where they gave him almost a mother's care?

I want to thank you, if it did—for your dollar has given me back my boy—it has brought him back to me out of No Man's Land, where many sons are going, where many will remain.

Can I say this to you, my friend? Surely, I can if you are a member of the Red Cross—or if you send in your personal subscription to the Red Cross now—for many a father's son will come out of No Man's Land by the aid of the dollars that go to swell the subscription lists of that great enterprise of humanity.

Join to-day—make this your Red Cross day. No field service is required. Count this the chance to do your bit—for this country must have two million members of the Red Cross—$100,000,000 in subscriptions.

President Wilson, himself, is president of the Red Cross and asks that one million men and women enroll their names as subscribers to the Red Cross—at $1, $2, $3, $5, $10, $15, $100, $1,000, $10,000 or $100,000.

He does not ask that you do anything else but pay your subscription and then if you wish to secure 10, 15, or 100 new subscribers, do so if you wish. No further service in the field or elsewhere will be required.

In this hour of the nation's and all the world's need, every American who loves his country and his fellow men asks: "What can I do. Where can I help?"

For stalwart youth the path of duty is plain. Our country and humanity need men to fight and die for them. Yet of our 100,000,000 only a small fraction now and but a tithe at most, or worst, can thus serve. For all who cannot enlist to seek "the great prize of death in battle" or who are not needed in those ranks, as yet, there is another enlistment. It is under the banner of the Red Cross. Enlisting there all, old or young, man or woman or tender child, can proudly say:

"I too am serving humanity and my country."

"I too am deserving well of the republic." "Fight or Give" is our battle cry!

This is Red Cross week and we ask that you do this by becoming a supporter of the Red Cross. Send your cash or your check to-day—$5, $10, $100, $1,000 or $100,000—give to your very utmost.—Written by L. R. Parsons, Chicago.

She'd Rather Tame Tigers Than Get Married.

There is a story in Farm and Fireside in which this passage occurs:

"Say, Bill," she said, dropping the black fringes over those light gray Irish eyes, as she nervously polished the counter and rearranged the plates of pie, 'you know that swell thirteen-dollar hat you was showin' me over last Sunday out to Roxbury? Well, don't take no lease of that—not on my account. I'm—I'm not thinkin' of gettin' married as much as I was. I like you fine, Bill, but I guess it's in my blood. I ain't never told you, but my mother was in the business with a circus, workin' a bunch of performin' lions. Say! she had Bonavita chased clear under the table! The show people that comes here to feed have been after me this long while. They say I've the trick with animals, and I guess I have all right, all right. They want to put me on with a trained tiger. I was round to the arena again las' night after the show. Rajah's getting used to me. I've been in the cage twice already, an' he acted fine. I'm real sorry, Bill. But I guess marryin's too slow for me. I've got to have somethin' that takes nerve."
